GRACE
JULIAN MURTHY

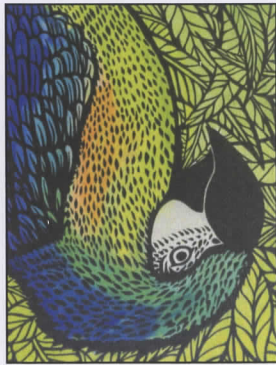

Grace has a BFA and MA degree in Graphic Design. Her work is influenced by pop art. She draws inspiration from comics and uses black outlines in all of her work. This art is a journey of happiness that use a visual language of humor, nostalgia, color, shape and everyday objects to illustrate that you can find joy in the simple things in life. She engages the viewer by using contrasting colors and juxtaposing the pop art style on wood. She welcomes the viewer on this joyous retro and fun journey. She believes that art exists all around us and all it takes to be appreciated is a closer look.

CHARLIE

Acrylic and marker on Canvas
$500.00

I will never forget my first trip as a child to the beautiful island of Trinidad & Tobago. I saw numerous birds and flowers which brought me much joy. I remembered seeing the most beautiful bird. I called him Charlie. I nicknamed him Charlie after Charlie and the Chocolate Factory. I felt like I had won a Golden Ticket when I first saw all these birds. I love the color and the beauty of these tropical birds, and it makes me smile--even to this day in this painting, I tried to capture the vibrancy of the colors and the joyous time I had experienced when I had seen these birds.

Malden

Acrylic and marker on Canvas
$250.00

This piece celebrates Malden's diversity by illustrating all the streets in Malden.

POP UP

Acrylic and marker on Canvas
$650.00

The vibrating nature of this piece is evident in the use of the complementary colors. This piece creates an after image of the popping popcorn which produces a sense of movement.

ODE TO DAISY

Acrylic and marker on Canvas
$250.00

A daisy simple flower. I wanted to highlight the beauty of this flower by painting it in solitude and offsetting the colors. Painting outside the lines I wanted to show that you can find beauty which can be overlooked.

ODE TO COLEUS

Acrylic and marker on Canvas
$950.00

The coleus is a beautiful plant. I think this painting represent life. Sometimes life is messy and your work, sweat and tears may seem in vain. But when you step back and take a broader view of life, the marking of these challenging times is what makes the painting and life truly beautiful. I tried to illustrate these feeling by using various splatter and dripping paint techniques.

FREE FALLING FEATHERS

Acrylic and marker on Canvas
$650.00

The feeling of depth and the airy quality of this painting is created by the movement of the shapes. It allows the viewer a feeling of being enveloped by the free falling feathers. This is a reminder to just have fun.
